John Wesley

His Early Life

John Wesley was a famous preacher of the 18th century. He helped to found the Methodist movement. John Wesley was born on 28th June in the village of Epworth in Lincolnshire. His father was Samuel Wesley and his mother was Susanna. In 1714 John was sent to Charterhouse school. In 1720 Wesley went to Oxford University. In 1724 he was awarded a BA and MA in 1727. John Wesley was ordained as Priest in 1728.

In 1729 John Wesley became a tutor at Oxford University. While there he founded a religious Club and people nicknamed them as Methodists. Then in 1735 John went to North America. However his stay in the colony of Georgia was not a successful and he returned to England in 1738. Yet on the voyage to Georgia Wesley met some German Moravians and he was deeply impressed by them. In 1738 Wesley's life was changed when he was attending a religious meeting in London. He later said that somebody was reading Martin Luther's Preface to Romans. John Wesley said 'I felt my heart strangely warmed'. Afterwards he became a great preacher.

The Methodists

In 1739 Wesley moved to Bristol but soon began to travel to other parts of England. In 1742 he traveled to Newcastle upon Tyne and in 1747 to Cornwall. In 1747 he traveled to Ireland and in 1751 to Scotland. John Wesley never intended to form a new church separating from the Church of England but his followers soon began to form their own organization. The Methodists placed great emphasis on living a holy life and they had many travelling preachers. Some Methodist preachers were women. Meanwhile Wesley continued to travel around England preaching and the Methodist movement flourished. After the American War of Independence Methodism spread in the USA. Salvation Army

The Salvation Army (TSA) is a Christian church and an international charitable organization. The organization reports a worldwide membership of over 1.7 million, consisting of soldiers, officers and adherents collectively known as Salvationists. Its founders sought to bring salvation to the poor, destitute, and hungry by meeting both their "physical and spiritual needs". It is present in 131 countries, running charity shops, operating shelters for the homeless and disaster relief, and humanitarian aid to developing countries.

The theology of the Salvation Army is derived from that of Methodism, although it is distinctive in institution and practice. A peculiarity of the Army is that it gives its clergy titles of military ranks, such as "lieutenant" or "major". It does not celebrate the rites of Baptism and Holy Communion. Army's purposes are "the advancement of the Christian religion ... of education, the relief of poverty, and other charitable objects beneficial to society or the community of mankind as a whole".

The Army was founded in 1865 in London by one-time Methodist circuit-preacher William Booth and his wife Catherine as the East London Christian Mission, and can trace its origins to the Blind Beggar tavern. In 1878 Booth reorganized the mission, becoming its first General and introducing the military structure which has been retained as a matter of tradition. Its highest priority is its Christian principles. The current international leader of The Salvation Army and chief executive officer (CEO) is General Brian Peddle.
